STANLEY PARK YOUTH ECOLOGY PROGRAM SUMMER 2010

Are you or do you know youth who are fascinated by our natural world, wanting to help our environment, looking to earn volunteer hours and gain work experience, and/or interested in working with other youth in the outdoors? If yes, then the Stanley Park Ecology Society's Summer Youth Ecology Program is the perfect opportunity.

This exciting and free program will run during July and August of 2010, offering youth aged 14 - 20 the opportunity to earn volunteer hours and work in teams to restore habitat in Stanley Park. The students will manage invasive plant species, learn about west coast ecology and conservation issues, and develop organizational and leadership skills while working in a beautiful park setting!

Please visit: <http://www.stanleyparkecology.ca> for more information or contact Greg Ferguson for application and photo release forms at stewardship@stanleyparkecology.ca

TELUS SUMMER VISIONS FILM INSTITUTE 2010

WRITE. DIRECT. ACT. PRODUCE.

Summer Vision Film Institute is an award-winning digital media production program for youth aged 14 – 19 produced by the Education Department at Pacific Cinémathèque and Dream Big Productions at Templeton Secondary School. Over two weeks, video makers work in production team to write, shoot, edit and screen a short digital video, learning video making skills as they create.

Our two –week film institution are structured around short workshops, group work, and lots of hands-on practice concluding with an informal screening for the finished work. Plus, each video is screened at a Gala and Award Ceremony in September that showcases all the work produced throughout the summer.
